President's Address

Lori Price

Why join the FBA?

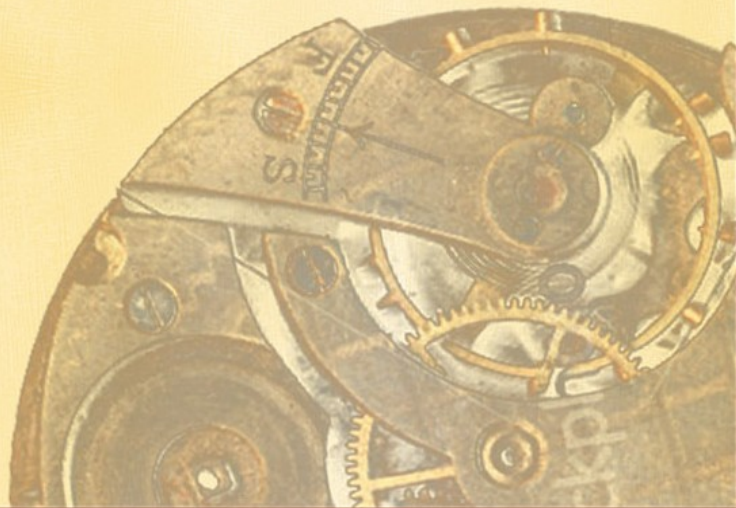

The Federal Bar Association serves the interests and needs of the federal practitioner, the federal judiciary and the public they serve. Nationally, the FBA enjoys the membership of 15,000 federal lawyers, including 1,200 federal judges. Members of the FBA work to promote the sound administration of justice, integrity, quality and independence of the judiciary. The FBA also provides opportunities for scholarship and for judges and lawyers to professionally and socially interact.

In this past year, the Tucson Chapter of the FBA engaged our community in a number of successful endeavors. The permanent memorial to our former Chief Judge Roll is almost complete and will be unveiled later this year. We assisted the Court with a Special Court Proceeding honoring Chief Judge Roll in January, held seminars in the fall and winter including the Bench and Bar, the half day Criminal Law Seminar, Luncheon CLEs on medical marijuana and immigration, and Nuts & Bolts covering interactions with chambers and CJA vouchers. We have another Nuts & Bolts on effective representation in mediation scheduled for May. In June, don't miss our thank you to our members—the free Ethics CLE. This year we have also revived our newsletter offering practical information, notice of CLE events and informative, substantive articles. Hopefully, along the way, we’ve also given you a couple pieces that made you laugh (check out our “Name that Baby” segment on page 7).

The Tucson courthouse is one of the busiest in the country. It is easy and sometimes necessary to put your head down and not look up, working away on the heavy caseload we all carry. I encourage you to join the FBA so that you’ll occasionally look up and take a moment to remember that you are part of a tight-knit legal community that has the honor of practicing in an elite court. Joining the FBA gives you the opportunity to stay involved with your colleagues on a more informal level and get to know the judges before whom you practice. Our events and CLEs provide you with the opportunity to hear from the Tucson federal judges about what they think is important to be effective litigators. It also gives you the opportunity to be involved with your colleagues further than discussing a discovery plan or negotiating a plea.

If you are interested in joining the FBA, now is a good time. In June, our Chapter is offering a free three hour ethics seminar to our members. If you aren’t a member yet, the cost of admission is just the cost of membership. Also in June, our Executive Committee will be meeting to plan our events for the upcoming year (we run our year September through June). If you’re interested in serving on the Executive Committee, contact me and I will get you the information for our retreat.

In this issue of our newsletter, be sure to check out two new segments - “Name that Baby” and “10 Questions”.

We look forward to seeing you at an upcoming event.

10 Questions with District Judge Jennifer Zipp

If you weren't in the legal profession, what would you do?

I would write children's books. I loved to read when I was a child and I loved to read books to my children. Books open your mind and your imagination.

What were your favorite books when you were young?

I loved all types - mysteries, fairytales. One of my favorites was Mrs. Frisby and the Rats of Nimh, about a widowed field mouse and a group of former lab rats who save her house from a farmer's plough.

When you have time to read for fun now, do you read fiction or nonfiction?

I read both. I love biographies. I still enjoy mysteries. I like the kind of book that makes you want to find out how the story is going to end.

Judges often say a difficult part of the job is being hands off in the courtroom. Is that difficult?

It can be difficult at times, but there are different ways to advocate that are effective and I enjoy seeing how different attorneys develop and present a case. Also, the attorneys handling the case are going to know more about the facts than I do, and they may have strategies that don't develop if I insert myself in the case. The bottom line is that most attorneys are very good advocates.

How important is judicial independence?

It's vital, and it's fundamental to our democracy and the balance of powers the Framers envisioned when they wrote the Constitution.

What is a common characteristic good attorneys all share?

A good attorney knows what matters and what doesn't and has a specific strategy to present the evidence and argument necessary for a particular setting, be it a motion hearing, memorandum, or trial.

Do you have a motto for balancing your family life with your tremendous caseload?

I don't know if I have a motto but flexibility is important. Be flexible. And prioritize.

What was your favorite concert?

Ray Charles, who I saw during law school. I didn't know a lot about Ray Charles at the time, except maybe his song "Georgia," and I had no idea what an incredible performer he was. It was amazing to see him.

What was the first car that you ever owned?

A Buick Skyhawk. I can't remember the year.

What is the car you drive now?

An Infiniti G37. I'm really not a car person, but I love convertibles and I liked the color of this one—Pacific blue. While I was wavering between this car and another SUV to replace our Suburban, my husband went and bought it for me for Christmas because he knew I wouldn't buy it for myself—and probably because he doesn't want me to say "no" the next time he wants to buy a car!

Memorial to Former Chief Judge John M. Roll

On January 6, 2012, the Tucson Chapter of the Federal Bar Association joined with the Arizona District Court to hold a Special Court Proceeding honoring the late Chief Judge Roll. A record of that proceeding is now published in Westlaw, and a video recording of the proceeding is available on YouTube: <http://youtu.be/xKQ2vTaf7vs>.

Chief Judge Silver opens the memorial.

At the Special Court Proceeding, Fern Bomchill, the national President of the Federal Bar Association, spoke eloquently on behalf of the nation's federal lawyers and judges. This month, she has honored that day again by highlighting the event in her address in the Federal Lawyer, the national FBA magazine.

Effective Representation in Mediation

Presented by Claudia Bernard

Ninth Circuit Chief Mediator

Thursday, May 10, 2012

2:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m.

Evo A. DeConcini Courthouse
Jury Assembly Room, First Floor

Sometimes being a good litigator is antithetical to being a good advocate in mediation. In this interactive, hands-on session, attorneys will learn how to use a mediation to get the best possible deal for a client. Participants will learn the difference between interest-based negotiation and positional bargaining and will work on skills for negotiating effectively in each. Participants will learn how to make the mediator their ally, how to prepare for mediation, and how to master the personal qualities that allow them to maximize their clients' goals in mediation. Tucson magistrate judges will be present to discuss local practices.

This event may qualify for up to 2 hours of CLE credit and is free of charge.
