

The Careers in Tax Law Panel was held on June 27 at Alston & Bird.

Younger Lawyers Division

The Younger Lawyers Division was once again excited to sponsor the Summer Law Clerk program, which is exclusively sponsored by the U.S. Army Judge Advocate General's Corps. Throughout June and July, legal interns had the extraordinary opportunity to visit up to eight federal agencies to meet agency counsel. They were also invited to participate in panel discussions hosted by various federal agencies and practitioners. The panel discussions allowed interns to ask questions directly to legal counsel about career development, agency missions and operations, and employment opportunities.

This year's program included panels on legal careers with the Department of Justice, the Department of Defense, and Capitol Hill, as well as legal careers in the fields of tax and transportation law. Over 200 law student interns participated in this year's program, which began with an event at the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit.

At the kickoff event, students received advice and remarks from the chief judge of the U.S. Court of Federal Claims, an attorney for the Department of Justice, and a deputy chief for the U.S. Army JAG Corps. This year's program also provided participants with an opportunity to network with Federal Bar Association members and to learn more about the many benefits of being an FBA member. ☺
