The Center is pleased to again offer this innovative program on international insolvency law. The principal audience will be attorneys from around the world who are participating in the Academy of American and International Law, a 6-week program that is now in its 50th year at the Center. Former Academy participants have gone on to be heads of state, cabinet ministers, justices of national Supreme Courts, and even President of the General Assembly of the United Nations.

The Center welcomes US insolvency practitioners to attend this full day program and participate with sitting and retired bankruptcy judges, practitioners, and international lawyers who bring a unique perspective to the issues that will be discussed.

Registrants for this program are also welcome to attend, at no extra charge, a full day program on June 5 covering fundamentals of US bankruptcy law offered to the Academy
