

Federal Bar Association

Corporate and Association
Counsel Division

Federal Bar Association

District of Columbia Chapter

---

Cyber Security: What Every In-House Counsel Needs to Know (And Outside Counsel Should Tell Them)

May 4, 2017 • 4:00 – 6:30 p.m.

Hollingsworth LLP • 1350 I Street, N.W. • Washington, DC 20005

---

Speakers:

- James M. Sullivan, Partner, Hollingsworth LLP
- Sheila Slocum Hollis, Partner, Duane Morris LLP
- Chris Nutt, Managing Director, Mandiant

Moderator:

- Michael J. Cahalane, Partner, Cetrulo LLP

Cyber security is an issue that permeates every aspect of our lives from politics to finance to social media. It is a subject that is particularly important for businesses all sizes to understand and proactively address. In-house counsel can no longer assume that cyber security and data privacy are being handled by the information technology department. It is imperative that company lawyers be not just proficient in cyber security, but also prepared to advise the corporation, including its executives and directors, on related issues, such as identification of data assets, breach prevention, investigation, and incident response. A panel of experts will address what in-house counsel need to know about cyber security and what they should be doing to protect the company from data breaches and related liability. The panel discussion will be followed by a networking reception.

This event is FREE for FBA members and Law Students. Register online today!